L'ORÉAL / BRANDSTORM SOUTH AFRICA 2023

Turn an innovation brief into a participation campaign

CAMPAIGN CONTEXT

The 2023 global mission explored beauty through AR, VR, AI and the metaverse. My remit was local recruitment, communications and programme delivery with the global team.

01

Reach

University outreach, social, email and web advertising

>

02

Register

Website content and participant registration journey

03

Engage

Participant communications, Salesforce tracking and follow-up

>

04

Deliver

Interns, agencies, global team and national finals

My delivery record covers university outreach, participant communications, website coordination, Salesforce tracking, interns, agencies and national finals.

Make each channel serve the participant journey

University outreach	Campus engagement and recruitment activity	Create awareness and a clear reason to register
Digital acquisition	Social, email, web advertising and website content	Connect the campaign message to registration
Participant communications	Programme information and Salesforce tracking	Support participants through the programme
National delivery	Interns, agencies, internal and global stakeholders	Coordinate the local programme and finals

What I owned and what the campaign required

CAMPAIGN OWNERSHIP

Led local delivery with the global team, including recruitment planning, participant communications and website administration. Worked with web, design and content teams and used Salesforce to track activity.

TEAM COORDINATION

Supervised interns and coordinated agencies and internal stakeholders. Organised national finals delivery.

WHY THIS BELONGS IN MY PORTFOLIO

This programme combines innovation, audience recruitment, multi-channel communications, CRM and complex stakeholder delivery. It shows my ability to move a global brief into a local campaign.

Campaign context: L'Oréal official Brandstorm 2023 announcement. Personal role: supplied career records.
